Western Pacific Trans-Bay Rail Line May Get Federal Financial Aid

SECOND MOSQUITO CONTROL PROJECT BEGINS AT NEWARK

24 Newark - Centerville Unemployed Given Steady Work

The second project to be undertaken by the Federal Pest Mosquito control in Alameda county was started Tuesday in the marshland west of Newark. Twenty-four men began construction work on ditches for the drainage of 450 acres of mosquito breeding marsh. Work is under the supervision of Roland Bendel, mosquito abatement district foreman. Bendel is also directing work progressing on a similar project in the Warm Springs area.

Unemployed residents of the Newark-Centerville area have been assigned to the Newark project by the Civil Works Administration. The men will work 30 hours a week at 60 cents an hour. Total cost of the project at Newark is estimated at $3,595.00.

17,000 feet of lineal ditch will be dug, and 11,800 lineal feet of small slough cleared and trimmed. Drainage of the area will save a considerable annual expenditure for oiling.

Civil Tests Soon For Newark Post Office Job

Miss Julia Ruschin, recently appointed acting postmaster at Newark announces this week that civil service examinations for the post will be held in the near future She states that February 2 will be the closing date for filing applications to take the examination. The application blanks can be secured at the Newark post office, Miss Ruschin said.

Miss Ruschin was appointed acting postmaster two weeks ago. She succeeds Mrs. Mattie E. Boles, who had served in the office for the past thirty years.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Mrs. Norman H. Parks will entrain for Santa Barbara tomorrow to attend the convention of the Editorial Association, to be held in that city next week. At the conclusion of the convention, the editorial group will go to Los Angeles where a number of the editors will leave on an excursion to the Boulder dam site. The excursion is to be furnished through the courtesy of the Union Pacific company. Mrs. Parks will return the latter part of next week.

Business activities, concerning his three newspapers will prevent Norman H. Parks, publisher of the Township Register, from attending the convention.

In 1904, the Mayhew orange grove, and those on the Pickering, Shinn and Ellsworth ranches were famous throughout the valley later years the groves were torn up, unable to compete with the oranges from the southern part of the state.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB REELECTS OFFICERS MONDAY EVENING

All Officers Excepting the Treasurer Will Serve Second Term

With one exception, all of the original officers of the Washington Democratic club were re-elected at a meeting held Monday night at the Parish hall in Centerville.

The officers are M. W. Lewis, of Centerville, president; John Hunter, of Niles, vice president; Eleanor Silveria, of Centerville, secretary; John Dutra, of Newark, treasurer. Dutra succeeds Leland Steinmetz of Mission San Jose in office. Lawrence Keller was re-elected sergeant at arms.

Business at the meeting consisted of a discussion of national affairs under the NRA. The group pledged its support to President Roosevelt.

A resolution was adopted advising the head of the CWA of certain practices under the CWA in this district.

The Roosevelt Ball, to be held at Hayward on January 30 was discussed. M. V. Lewis is one of several from this district who are on the ball committee. Proceeds of the ball will be used for the benefit of crippled children at the sanitarium for paralytics at Warm Springs, Georgia.

The club is scheduled to meet again the first Monday in February.

ALICE CORREIA TO WED W.C. KEMPTON SUNDAY

At a beautifully appointed wedding to be held at noon Sunday at the Holy Ghost church in Centerville, Miss Alice Correia, 18, will become the bride of Walter C. Kempton, of Niles. Rev. Father Souza will officiate.

Miss Correia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joaquin S. Correia of Niles.

The bride will be attired in a wedding gown of white satin, with a veil. She will carry a bouquet of white carnations. She will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Mamie Pimentel, who will wear a green crepe gown. Best man will be the bride's brother, Anthony Correia. Mrs. Silva, of Centerville, will be at the church organ.

Kempton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Kempton, of Sebeka, Minnesota. He has lived in Washington township for the past four years, during which time he has been employed on the Shinn ranch.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will return to Niles where they will live in a home recently remodeled and refurnished by Kempton.

Joint Use of Dumbarton Bridge With Southern Pacific Favored

Hopes of bringing about greater industrial development in southern Alameda county through increased rail facilitiess were renewed Saturday when Congressman J. J. McGrath announced in Washington that he had secured strong support from the federal railroad coordinator on the problef of bringing about cooperation between the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific companies in the use of bay-crossing and peninsular rail facilities.

Plans for a complete Western Pacific Niles to San Francisco system have been drawn for many years. Construction was delayed for some time due to delays in securing the necessary permits. The right was granted in 1931. Shortly after, an announcement was issued from the Western Pacific headuarters that construction would be delayed due to financial stress. Several weeks ago the rail company petitioned the railroad commission to withdraw the petition and allow the permit to lapse. McGrath urges that the permit be retained.

The recent proposal, for which there may be strong federal support, calls for joint use of the existing bridges and right of way across the San Francisco bay, by the Western and Southern Pacific companies.

In his statement McGrath said, "Western Pacific now owns 70 per cent right of way from the bridge to its terminal facilities in San Francisco. I see no reason why the two roads could not use the present facilities until such time as the economic situation warrants the construction of a new line or a cooperative freight line across the bay."

During the world war, when the federal government stepped in and by coordinating the rail facilities of the nation saved a vast amount of money by preventing cross-hauling, space wastage, and parallel hauling, the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific were joined by a spur track at Niles. It is said that a similar junction is outlined in the pending plan.

MRS. EDWIN WHIPPLE PASSES YESTERDAY MORNING IN BERKELEY

Wife of Masonic Home Builder, 76, Was Well Known

Word was received in Niles yesterday of the death of Mrs. Edwin Whipple, 76, widow of the late Edwin Whipple, prominent Mason and founder of the Masonic Home at Decoto. Mrs. Whipple succumbed yesterday morning at 7 o'clock after a week's illness following a stroke suffered a short time ago. She passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. E. Coulter, at Berkeley, where she had been living for the past 12 years.

Previous to her residence in Berkeley, Mrs. Whipple lived for 45 years in Decoto. Her home was one of the centers of social activity in Washington township. She was a prominent member of the Country club and of the Order of Eastern Star.

She was the mother of nine children, seven of whom are living. She will be remembered by old residents of Niles.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 from the Truman Funeral parlors in Oakland. Interment will be at Decoto.

DAMAGES ASKED AT SAN JOSE COURT FOR FATAL CRASH

J. Russo Seeks $25,000 for Death of Son August 13, 1933

Three consolidated damage actions in which two plaintiffs are seeking damages for personal injuries an one for the alleged wrongful death of his son, went before a jury in the court of Superior Judge R. R. Syer in San Jose yesterday.

The three cases arose from an automobile collision involving cars of three persons near Milpitas, on August 13, 1933, in which Salvador Russo, of Niles, was killed.

Joe Silveria and Joe Perry, of Mission San Jose, both passengers in the automobile driven by Russo seek $16,000 and $26,450 respectively from the defendants, Allen Post and S. H. Dunham.

James Russo, father of Salvador Russo, is asking for $25,000 for the death of his son.

The defendants were driving in separate cars when the accident occurred.

PINE TIGERS SINK FIREMEN SUNDAY BY BIG TALLY

With their collective batting eye still to be acquired after long months of inactivity, the Niles Firemen's baseball team Sunday met defeat at the hand of Pine Tigers by a tally of 29 to 9. Sunday's game was the second contest in which the Firemen have been trying to marshall their forces.

The Pine Tigers, an effective organization mustered recently, proved deadly with the stick. They walloped three homers during the contest.

Joe Machado, captain of the new Firemen's team, is optimistic over the outlook in spite of the defeat. He states that time and practice will convert his team into a dangerous aggregation. He is trying tentative lineups.

Of interest during the game was the hurried departure of the entire Firemen's club when the siren screeched during the 6th inning. The blaze proved to be a carburetor fire in Mello's car. The team returned to the field after quenching the disturbance.

The following lineup started for the Firemen: Bill Alameda, c, L. Avilla, p, Bill Lanfri, 1b, Joe Machado,, 2b, Joe Perry, 3b, Ted Souza, ss, B. Mendoza, lf, Tony Silva, rf, M. Fasano, cf.

The Pine Tigers stacked up thus: Joe Rabello, r, Jallo Aires, p, Pat Pine, 2b, Bill Oliveria, 2b, Clarence Pine, 3b, Albert Pine, ss, Tony Correia, lf, Anthony Avilla, cf, John Amarante and Joe Oliveria, rf.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Swartz, accompanied by Miss Winifred Azevedo of Mission San Jose, were Hayward visitors Sunday.

LOCAL INDUSTRY OUTLINED IN TALK AT CHAMBER MEET

George P. Hess Relates Interesting Facts About Salt

Relating the fascinating story of the salt industry, from its beginning far back in history, George P. Hess, manager of the Morton Salt company of Newark, Monday revealed the importance and scope of one of southern Alameda county's most important industrial enterprises.

Hess began his talk with a statement of the vital necessity of salt in the human system. He stated that few realize the value of the commodity, it is so commonplace. Hess told of the historical importance of salt and of its value as a medium of exchange in past centuries, and in some Asiatic countries today. He told of battles waged for the possession of salt deposits by primitive peoples.

Conducting an experiment with sodium to illustrate the chemical composition of salt, Hess caused mild apprehension in the group with a minor explosion. Another test in which he produced a small amount of chlorine gas reminded veterans of past days.

Of interest to many was Hess' explanation of the unvarying demand for salt. Human beings, although they have a natural craving for the chemical, can eat just so much. Advertising campaigns are of no avail to increase salt sales.

Hess told of the sources of salt, the sea being 2½ per cent sodium chloride. The evaporation method of salt gathering, such as is employed in the San Francisco bay region, is peculiar only to climatic zones in which the dry and warm seasons coincide. The bay region here and the Mediterranean area are the best examples of this type of climate.

Another method of salt recovery was by mining, Hess said. Strata of salt, varying in thickness from several hundred to several thousand feet are found at varying depths in many states, and in Germany. Mining methods are used similar to those used for coal, or a system of pipes is installed to dissolve the salt, pump the brine to the surface and recrystalize it there.

Huge quantities of salt are used for industrial purposes, among them are food preparation, dairying, canning of foods, and in chemical works. Some of the large users of industrial salt at the present time are the huge armament works of the world. Salt is used in the manufacture of explosives.

Hess concluded his talk with an explanation of some of the technical aspects of salt recovery such as processes of crystalization and refining.

At the beginning of the meet, F. V. Jones stated that the Niles Parent-Teacher's Association will be hostesses to the chamber one Monday in February at the Niles grammar school.

A committee, consisting of Dr. E. C. Grau, George Bonde, A. J. Petsche and F. V. Jones, was appointed to carry on the work of filling the scout fund quota.

Niles Streets Repaired This Week by County

County road crews, making their appearance in Niles Monday morning this week have been repairing the streets in the town. Work for the most part consisted of building up the shoulders on the back streets and filling what few holes have developed in the pavement itself. Work was under the supervision of Robert M. Clemens. Clemens was head of construction on the extension of First street through the California Nursery property last fall.

MARKETING SITUATION OUTLINED TO LOCAL 'COT GROWERS AT MEET

Class For Discussion Of Farm Problems Pends for School

More than 100 Washington township apricot and prune growers gathered at the Washington Union high school Monday night to hear officials of the California prune and apricot growers' Association tell of problems facing the industry and plans being mapped to increase the value of the crops.

C. B. Pape and E. Cluge, heads of the products and shipping departments respectively, spoke of restrictions on producers and distributors under the new department of agriculture rulings, and under the pending food and drug act. Both stated that many of the restrictions were detrimental to the industry and entirely unnecessary, and that measures would have to be taken to alter them. Particularly insidious, the speakers said, were the limitations placed on moisture and sulphur content of dried apricots. Increased stress on cleanliness, brought about by the more particular American market, have made the marketing of the crops more difficult, Cluge said. He urged growers to see that no dirt was imbedded in their fruit.

In telling of the increasing nationalism in world markets, Cluge said countries that formerly were buyers of the American product had turned to their own sources, inferior to the American fruits, but nonetheless competitive to them, at least in the lower grades. High tariffs and duty on the American apricots abroad have forced a domestic market, Pape inferred, saying that the discerning American palate must be won by new preparations of the product, such as pastes, juices, and so on. Pape told of the American preference for attractively packaged goods, and said the preference would be met.

C. D. Cavalaro, general manager of the Association spoke briefly on the financial outlook for 1934, and said that the present upturn may show favorable results in the final payment for last year's crops.

Under the auspices of Manuel Alameda, coffee and doughnuts were served to the group in the school cafeteria. A musical program preceded the meet, featuring the high school band under the direction of E. Belleci.

A. Agosti, principal of the night school, in the interest of local ranchers, suggested that a plan may be worked out whereby the night school may add a class for the discussion of agricultural problems. A committee was appointed to confer with government officials to work out ways and means of bringing Agosti's plan to reality. The plan includes the advice and assistance of government experts in financial and production problems arising in southern Alameda county.

TO ATTEND MEET

Clarence Crane, chief ranger of the Niles court of Foresters, accompanied by Louis Lewis, will attend the installation of officers at the Emeryville court tonight. Supervisor Ralph V. Richmond and Addison Richmond will also attend.

INSTALLATION ENDS CURRENT ACTIVITY OF REBEKAHS TOMORROW

New Officers For Niles-Alvarado Will Be Seated at Meet.

Occupied this week with a number of activities, the Niles Rebekahs will terminate a busy time tomorrow night when the newly elected officers of the Niles and Alvarado lodges will be installed at ceremonies to be held in the I. O. O. F. hall in Niles. Installing officer will be Mrs. Anna Hanifen of Pleasanton, district deputy president. She will be assisted by her staff. Members of the Niles group are making preparations to serve refreshments to between 150 and 200 people, who are expected to attend.

Wednesday night a number of the members of the Niles lodge went to Livermore to witness the installation there. Mrs. Fred Mitte, of Niles, assisted the deputy install the officers of the Livermore lodge.

Tonight several Niles Rebekahs will attend a meeting of the Hayward lodge to be on hand for the official visit of Mrs. Margaret Carswell, grand president of the Rebekah Assembly.

OUTSTANDING PUPILS LISTED ON NILES' SCHOOL HONOR ROLL

Forty-Seven Students Are Honored for High Marks, Diligence

An honor roll, listing pupils of the grades of the Niles grammar school, was released this week by Principal E. Dixon Bristow. The pupils were graded for work done during the past eight school weeks. Those who have done exceptional work in their respective grades are:

First grade—Mary Chung, Charlotte Lewis, Florence Marie Braun, Miss Curran, teacher.

High grade—Luther Hudson, Miss Enos, teacher.

Second grade—Beverly Macke, Patsy Dawn Sherman, Mary Robin Habenicht, Billy Jo Drake, Dorothy Dominici, Miss Perrin teacher.

Second grade—Marjorie Jackson, Harriet Dias, Mrs. Smith, teacher.

Third grade — Loretta Lewis, Charlotte Burchall, Betty Burr, Inez Fong, Jack Kimber, Miss Keller, teacher.

Fourth grade—Barney Bragg, Philip Griffin, Arthur Kimber, Mary Cattaneo, Miss Inglis, teacher.

Fifth grade—Laura Lee Zwissig, Rita Rader, Joshua Fong, Genevieve Andrade, Riye Kawaguchi, Mrs. Macke, teacher.

Sixth grade—Joseph Fong, Lorraine Peterson, Julianne McDonald, Betty Denton, Ilene Wittenmeyer. Miss de Jonge, teacher.

Seventh grade—Joe Andrade, Arnold Paul, Miss Van Dervoort, teacher.

Seventh grade—Mary Virginia Bristow, Dorothy Escobar, Marguerite McNally, Lorraine Oliver, Marie Pine, Marjorie Pimentel, Virginia Rego, Miss Bunker, teacher.

Eighth grade—Yvonne Vieux, Emie Kawaguchi, Robert Zwissig, James Silva, John Bercheu, Virginia Willis, Antonia Espinosa, Josephine Gonzales, Mr. Bristow, teacher.

Bolingworth's Proxy

By R. T. M. SCOTT

©, 1933, McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

BOLINGWORTH'S proxy was a valuable document. It would be worth millions at a board meeting in New York the following day. Jeffries and Sanderson motored out to Bolingworth's country house on Long Island to argue against each other for the document but, of course, they did not travel in the same car. Fat old Jeffries took Aurelius Smith along with him to safeguard so valuable a paper, if he obtained it, up to the minute that it would be voted on the next day.

"I'll get the paper and you will keep it," rumbled and chuckled old Jeffries. "Together we'll lick Sanderson and his dirty crew."

As the two entered the big country house, a feminine shriek rang out, and Smith's long legs carried him up a flight of stairs without their customary indolence. In a back room he found a pretty maid with her foot caught in a steel-jawed rat trap. He wrenched the jaws apart.

The business meeting occurred in the music room on the ground floor. It had to be short, as Bolingworth was leaving by plane within an hour on his way to California. There was nothing immediately for Smith to do. He shook hands with Bolingworth and Sanderson and got their names mixed up as deaf people do—or stupid people, or people too lazy to think much.

While the three men gathered around a little table, Smith wandered to the piano and ran his fingers over the keys, but stopped quickly so as not to disturb the conference. He stretched himself in a chair and smoked while he listened to the rumble and chuckle of his employer in argument against the rasping harshness of Sanderson's voice.

At the end of an hour Bolingworth signed a paper and Jeffries had won. Bolingworth had left the house at once after ordering luncheon to be served to his three guests. The proxy lay upon the table beside a heavy blue envelope. Jeffries inserted it in the envelope and sealed the flap.

At that moment the roar of a plane sounded outside. Jeffries dropped the envelope on the table and turned toward the window. Sanderson looked away also. The roar of the plane became louder and all three men walked to the window near the piano. Smith and Jeffries approached the window in advance of Sanderson. When they returned to the table the envelope was gone.

Sanderson laughed vindictively and offered to let Jeffries search him. The offer was accepted and Jeffries found nothing, while Smith wandered to the piano and again ran his fingers over the keys while he frowned as if trying to think. Suddenly he turned around on the piano bench as if an idea had at last been born, and said that he ought to make certain that the maid had put antiseptic on her foot so that she would not be poisoned by the rat trap.

"I didn't think I brought you out here to fiddle with maids' ankles," grumbled Jeffries. "Bolingworth is in the air and we can't get another proxy. We're dished."

Smith shrugged his shoulders and rang the bell. The butler summoned the injured maid who limped to Smith and talked in low tones to him while she secretly received a ten-dollar bill. The maid limped out of the room and shortly after she returned, Smith joined Jeffries and Sanderson in the hall where Jeffries had ordered his car.

"I can't understand you, Smith," said Jeffries, as the two walked toward the front door, leaving Sanderson behind.

"Have a little patience," returned Smith softly and opened the door to tell Jeffries' chauffeur to drive away and come back in half an hour.

Jeffries looked his astonishment as the car roared off. The two stood for a few minutes in the doorway, Jeffries too surprised to speak. Suddenly a yell sounded inside the house.

"Come on!" called Smith as he dashed back to the music room.

Beside the piano stood Sanderson with the rat trap dangling from his hand as he cursed. Blood dripped from his hand to the floor.

"I knew that he must have taken the envelope from the table," explained Smith, "but I did not know where he put it until I touched the piano keys the second time and found that three strings were dead."

Sanderson, desperate, helpless, let Smith pry the trap from his hand.

"The maid brought me the trap," continued Smith, "and I placed it on the strings, under which he had slipped the envelope, and covered it with my handkerchief."

Then it was that Sanderson struggled to turn defeat into victory. He reached out into the piano and snatched out the blue envelope. With an exclamation of rage he painfully used his injured hand to tear the envelope into tiny pieces.

Jeffries started toward the maddened man but Smith pulled him back.

"I substituted an empty envelope when the two of you first turned toward the window," he said. "The proxy has been in my pocket all the time."

Bird's-Eye Maple

Bird's-eye maple may occur in maple growing in any part of the botanical range of the tree. Commercially, however, exploitation of maple for "bird's-eye" effects is limited in this country largely to upper Michigan and Wisconsin, and the Adirondacks in New York. Trees having a "bird's-eye" figure are not common. Fortunately, "bird's-eye" can be quite readily detected in maple timber by those familiar with the appearance of the affected trees.

Thunderstorms

The weather bureau says that as a general rule electrical storms decrease in number as one goes to the more northern localities, although they are still quite frequent along the northern border of the United States. However, in the Far West, particularly along the Pacific coast and over the lower levels further inland, there are comparatively few electrical storms and they are of comparatively mild nature.

Rip Van Winkle Siestas

There are numerous tales similar to the one about Rip Van Winkle, Epimenides, the Greek poet, was supposed to have slept 57 years. Such legends hang around the names of King Arthur, Charlemagne, Barbarossa, the Seven Sleepers of Ephesus, Tannhauser, Sebastian, Roderick, Peter Klaus, and many others.

Colors Used by Colleges

Ohio State, scarlet and gray; Harvard, crimson; Michigan, maize and azure; Notre Dame, gold and blue; Northwestern, Royal purple; Cornell, carnelian and white; United States Military academy, black, gold and gray; Yale, blue; Princeton, orange and black; United States Naval academy, blue and gold.

Roman Exercise Discs Found

Antiquarians have identified curious relics found by forestry workers on the old bowling green of Gwydyr chapel in Llanrwst, Wales, as disks used in exercising by Roman soldiers. They resemble quoits and were as popular among soldiers of ancient Rome as football is to soldiers of today.

Lightning Makes No Noise

Lightning is an abrupt electric discharge of great magnitude through the air. It is not a sound of any kind. It produces thunder by suddenly heating the air along its path to a very high temperature, and thereby causing it to expand in an explosive manner.

Cats Classed as Wild Animals

A search of Old English laws reveals interesting facts about the standing of cats. Though more or less domesticated cats were classified with deer, foxes, rabbits and hares, as wild animals. They belonged to no one, unless kept in close confinement.

Pirates Still in Game

The China coast is the greatest remaining center of pirate operations, while they also operate off the north of Africa. The principal depredations in Chinese waters are around the Bias bay regions, where coastwise trade is the chief sufferer.

Total Color Blindness Found to Be Uncommon

Color blindness, where an individual mistakes one color for another, is comparatively rare, with the confusion of red for green most common. Cases of total color blindness, says the New York Herald-Tribune, where the person cannot distinguish between any colors at all, are so uncommon that interest is warranted in a description of such a case appearing in the Journal of the Optical Society. It is reported by a psychologist of the University of Virginia.

So rare is total color blindness that only 125 cases have been found in the world, and 11 in the United States.

The subject failed in all tests of color blindness. In the Holmgren wool tests, for example, the subject was instructed to sort out the skeins into four piles—red, yellow, green and blue. He finally sorted them into five piles based solely on relative brightness. The subject in fact, saw all scenes as one would in a non-colored motion picture, where all real colors become blacks, grays and whites.

In human vision the acting mechanisms are the rods and cones in the eye, the cones giving color perception and the rods black, gray and white vision, according to the simplest theory. From physiology it is possible to predict that if the rods alone acted in vision the part of the spectrum where the eye is most sensitive would be in the green. If the cones acted the intensity maximum should be at the yellow-green. Tests on the subject strongly indicated the functioning of the rods alone.

Temperature in Siberia Reaches Lowest Recorded

Verkhoyansk, Siberia, holds the world's blue ribbon for frigid winter weather, compared with any other place where temperatures are regularly measured, according to Literary Digest.

Vladimir Zenzinov, in "The Road to Oblivion," says of some effects of the severe cold:

"You take a glass of water and dash it high into the air, the liquid will come down in the form of ringing crystals of ice. Spittle will freeze before reaching the ground. All live things seek deep shelter during the winter. Partridges dig themselves far into the snow and stay there. There have been cases of their falling like stones while in flight, freezing to death in the air.

"Marmots hide in underground holes where they hibernate, assuming the shape of a little claylike ball. The ice becomes so hard the ax rebounds from it. Live wood becomes petrified and when one chops it, sparks fly as if from flint."

Deep Sea Life Scarce

Bottoms of the deepest parts of the oceans are pretty much dead worlds, according to a Danish zoologist. He says that the only forms of life to be found in the deepest abysses are bacteria and small marine plants mainly because of the pressure, darkness and zero temperature to be found there. Fish would be able to adapt themselves to the pressure and the absence of light but there would still be lack of plentiful food and the temperature of that depth would only result in retarding growth and the building up of the body, he said. Fabled monsters at great depths have never been found.—Pathfinder Magazine.

An Old Egyptian Custom

The ancient Egyptians had probably the quaintest custom of collecting debts. Prizing the embalmed bodies of their ancestors above all else, they naturally realized that the best way of making a debtor kick through was to hold a lien on his father's body. This was sometimes most embarrassing when it was found that the parent was still alive, and unembalmed. It then became the duty of the debtor to give a bond to surrender the body of his parent as soon as it should be in a fitting condition to be admitted to pawn.

If it is Printing we can do it and do it right

Pinion Nuts

The pinion nut is a large edible seed of any of several species of pines called nut pines. They are small trees with leaves in one to four-leaved clusters, globose cones, and large seeds. They are found in hilly country throughout the Southwest. They may be gathered any time after the cones fall from the trees. Heat cracks open the cones and the nuts may be taken out. These nuts are gathered by Mexicans and Indians in the Southwest by waiting until the ground squirrels store them in caches, and then robbing the caches. The nuts are cured by drying in the sun.

Shetland Islands Numerous

The Shetland islands, north of Scotland, comprise a group of about 100 islands, only a third of which are inhabited. The islands are practically devoid of trees, but a small agricultural development occurs on the inhabited islands. The principal industry of the islands, however, is fishing. The coast lines are dotted with harbors and bays. In fact, so broken is the coast line, no part of any of the islands is more than three miles distant from the sea. They were formerly a possession of Scandinavia, but changed ownership in 1468, when they came under Scotch domination.

The Gate of Tears

The phrase is a translation of the Arabic Bab-el-Mandeb, which is the name of the strait between Africa and Arabia connecting the Red sea and the Indian ocean. It is so named because of the large number of shipwrecks which have occurred in the difficult passage. Also there is a legend that thousands perished in an earthquake which centuries ago opened the strait and let the seas through.

Patient Bird Fishers

The kingfisher, and all birds which fish, have unlimited patience. The stately heron would put the most patient fisherman to shame, for he will stand motionless for hours if he knows there is the chance of a good meal at the end of the vigil. He remains so still in a pool by the margin of the river that fish approach him without fear, thinking the hunter to be part of the landscape.

Aesop, Author of Fables, Was Born About 619, B. C.

Aesop, the reputed author of the collection of fables, is said to have been born about 619 B. C., and the Greek island of Samos is the place most commonly given as that of his birth, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He was a slave and is supposed to have been given his freedom because of his unusual talents. On gaining his freedom he visited Greece and Lydia. At the Court of Croesus, King of Lydia, he won great favor and was employed on several missions of importance. On one of these at Delphi he was thrown over a precipice by the priests, who became enraged at his witticisms.

Such is the story of Aesop. There is no record as to when and under what circumstances he composed the fables. Some authorities hold that he was not a historical personage at all—no more than a name that somehow attached itself to an ancient collection of tales. Greek art nevertheless had a definite idea of him, representing him as a dwarf. At least one statue survives.

It is certain that some of the fables are much older than the period in which Aesop lived; but that may mean only that he was a plagiarist. The fable of the Lion and the Mouse, and the Dispute of the Stomach and the Members are two stories which have been found in Egypt, dating hundreds of years before 619 B. C. Others have been traced to Chinese and Indian sources.

Cheap Jewelry of Today Rivals Gems of the Past

Many years ago there was a craftsman who made ornaments for lovely ladies. Slim wrists of Oriental dancers sparkled with his handiwork, regal heads were hung with the creations of his dreams of beauty. But of all the jewels with which he worked the one he loved the most was the opal.

One day he found an opal of great size and price. It was as large as his closed hand, lustrous as the star above the crescent moon, and luminous with elusive fires. He would make of this opal, he thought, the most perfect jewel he had ever made, so that seekers of beauty would see it and wonder.

With reverence he worked, as he carved his dreams into the shifting colors, until he had fashioned a bracelet fit to adorn the loveliest lady of all time. That was so many years ago that most of the legends have been forgotten, and the craftsman's jewels are sealed in undiscovered tombs.

Ages later there was a lady in a floating, rainbow gown, each of her slender wrists was encircled by three translucent bracelets of opalescent colors. She bought them somewhere for a small price, but their beauty was that of the opal, for craftsmen often have the same dreams.

First Long Distance Phones

The first long-distance telephone line was strung from Boston to Providence (45 miles) in 1880. It was a failure. The first successful line was constructed between Boston and New York four years later.

"Were Fairies an Actual Race of Men?" Discussed

Beliefs in fairies were at one time so universal and the superstitions which grew up regarding these tiny creatures have so many points in common that a lecture on the subject recently was given at the meeting of the British association, which is one of the world's most famous bodies of scientists, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald. This lecture, which had the intriguing title, "Were Fairies an Actual Race of Men?" treated the subject very seriously and was listened to most attentively. It is just possible that the legends about fairies had their root in fact. It is known that there have been successive migrations of races, and that in the course of these the aboriginal inhabitants of many countries have been wiped out by higher types.

So it may be that, when the Aryans, who were the ancestors of the Europeans of today, arrived in Europe, they drove the original Europeans—people of a different racial type—to the wilder and less habitable parts of the various countries, where colonies of them persisted for some time, living in underground burrows, and keeping up a guerilla warfare against their conquerors. This sort of thing has certainly happened in a number of other lands, and the lower race sometimes lingered on over long periods. If some Stone Age men, clinging to old habits, did actually survive side by side with later races, it would help to explain one of the most curious of all superstitions about fairies.

Toquilla Palm Is Used for White Panama Hats

Panama hats, which have earned a deserved celebrity under the name, are rarely manufactured in Panama, but are made in the neighboring states of South America. They originated during the gold rush in California in 1849. Prospectors purchased these straw hats in Panama and naturally called them Panama hats. Hats made from toquilla straw are made in Colombia, Peru and in Central America, and all of them are indiscriminately known as Panama.

Few male tourists leave the Canal Zone without one or more of these hats. Shops make a specialty of catering to the visitor.

The Panama hat is made from the leaf of the toquilla palm. The tree is cultivated for commercial purposes in Ecuador, Colombia and northern Peru. It becomes full-grown at eighteen months and lives for forty years or more. The straws are made from the new leaves, which are cut off just as they are about to unfold, and are split with needles on the fingernail.

Mountain Goats Smart

The mountain goat is the surest-footed and the most intelligent in meeting certain emergencies that arise on narrow trails. When two goats meet on an extremely narrow ridge with a precipice on each side, coolness and intelligence are indispensable. They cannot pass, nor retreat, as there is no room in which to turn about. Under these circumstances, the goats stand and look at each other thoughtfully for some time and mentally discuss matters. Then one of them kneels and lies down very carefully, and the other deliberately walks over him. They never get rattled and lose their heads. You will always find that any species of animal is about as clever as any other in the particular line of business which concerns its existence.

Boston's Name

This old town, about which centered so much of the early history of our country, was named for Boston in England. That town grew up around a church which was founded in Lincolnshire by a Roman monk by the name of Botolph or Botholp; that is, Boathelp. As the town grew in size it was given the name of Botolphstown, which was contracted to Botolphston, and then to Boston. From the town in Lincolnshire there came to America Rev. John Cotton, who gave the name of Boston to the first settlement on the Massachusetts peninsula. Thus the Puritan settlement owed its name to a Roman Catholic saint and monk.

The Fall of Tyre

The fall of Tyre, most important of maritime cities in the hey-day of its fame, added immensely to the reputation of Alexander the Great. But it deprived him of the use of the Phoenician fleet, by which he might have been able to pursue his victories along the Mediterranean coasts, to Carthage, daughter colony of Tyre, and to Spain, Gaul and Britain, conquered by Julius Caesar some two centuries later.

ALVARADO WEEKLY NEWS

HAYWARD FORFEITS TO ALVARADO SUNDAY

The Alvarado Merchants baseball game was called off Sunday when the Hayward Athletes failed to appear at the Newark grammar school diamond where the game was scheduled. The Athletes did not appear because some of their players were unable to come. The game was forfeited to the Merchants, who are now tied with the Ashland and Mission San Jose clubs for first place in the league.

The Alvarado fans who had planned to witness the Newark game motored to Ashland and Mission to witness the games being played there.

A BOY speaks up

"FATHER said I was lazy. Mother worried because I couldn't do my lessons. Teacher said I needed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil—told me how it toned up youngsters; made them keen and husky. I took three bottles. Now Father says I'm a 'little devil.' But that means he's proud of me."

There's nothing like Scott's Emulsion for spurring sluggish little minds and bodies into activity, growth and vigor. Rich in vitamins A and D, it supplies the very food elements needed for building healthy tissues and strong bones and teeth. Easy to digest. Easy to take—no disagreeable taste or odor. Start your children on Scott's Emulsion . . . note the happy change in a week or two. All druggists—60c and $1.20.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INITIATES TWO NEW MEMBERS

Two new firemen will be seen in action at future fires, after last Friday night's meet at the fire house in Niles. Bill Mendonca and John Alves were initiated into the group. At the same time several members of the department who had served but who had not been initiated were put through the mill. They were Frank Rose, Lawrence Avila and Joe Perry.

The initiation was put on by the entertainment committee, Joe Machado, Manuel Dias, and several others.

At the conclusion of the initiation, which is said to have been a hilarious affair, the firemen enjoyed a "feed" planned and prepared by themselves.

FRANK FERRY BILLED TO ARRIVE HOME NEXT WEEK

Writing from the S. S. Washington, Frank Ferry, on his way home to Niles after a stay of several months in Europe, tells briefly of some of his travels on the continent. He is expected home sometime early next week.

Having spent some time in Germany, Ferry tells of the German attitude toward Hitler. He states that the nation seems to be in accord with the dictator, and that no adverse comment can be heard. He said that the German youth seems hopeful and happy. American students at Bonn, with when Ferry came in contact stated that they were treated with respect and congeniality by the German boys.

Ferry was particularly impressed with the European firemen, whom he described as "terrible," adding that the American fire fighters show finesse and system by comparison.

CARMEL PAINTERS FIND PICTORIAL INTEREST HERE

Noticing hitherto neglected spots of poignant interest to artists in this region, Katharine Comstock and George Seideneck, Carmel artists plan to return to Washington township this week, and make a systematic tour of interesting places. They will sketch roughly several old adobes, the Mission buildings and other places of historical interest. Several paintings will be made of those places having the greatest artistic appeal.

Seideneck and Miss Comstock, residents of Carmel, are rated among the best portrait and landscape painters in the west. Their work has drawn much attention. They will be accompanied on their perusal of the township by George Stone, famous pictorial photographer. Stone is official photographer for the National

"MR. SKITCH" HAS DROLL TOUCH OF ROGER'S HUMOR

Beginning tonight at the Hayward theatre for a three day run is the great Warner Brothers super spectacle "Footlight Parade", with a galaxy of stars among whom are Joan Blondell and James Cagney. This great picture will be the attraction tomorrow and Saturday nights, as well as this evening.

A story of horses and the racing game is "Smoky", slated for Sunday and Monday nights. Victor Jory has the lead. On the same bill is the scintillating Betty Davis in "The Bureau of Missing Persons."

Barbara Stanwyck and Ralph Bellamy have the star parts in "Ever In My Heart," slated for the Hayward screen Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Tim McCoy in "Police Car No. 17" is an added feature.

Will Rogers, humorist, actor, and favorite of the nation, comes to the Hayward theatre Thursday night in "Mr. Skitch". It will play for three nights.

Here's Quickest, Simplest Way to Stop a Cold

1. Take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets. 2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours. 3. If throat is sore, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a half glass of water and gargle according to directions in box.

Almost Instant Relief in this Way

It is recognized as the QUICKEST, safest, surest way to treat a cold. For it will check an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get the real BAYER Aspirin Tablets. They dissolve almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Genuine BAYER Aspirin Tablets dissolve so completely they leave no irritating particles. Get a box or 12 tablets or a bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

Farm Home Department; 4-H Clubs Fetes Farm Bureau

Members of the Pleasanton 4-H boys' and girls' clubs decided to assist the members of the Pleasanton Farm Home Department, in entertaining the Pleasanton-Livermore Farm Bureau, on January 17, at a meeting held Friday evening at the Presbyterian church social hall.

The farm bureau was entertained with a dinner, followed by a social affair. This was held at the church social hall Wednesday evening.

The girls also changed their meeting night to every first Friday of the month. They also accepted an invitation to put on the installation exercises for the officers of the Mt. House 4-H club on January 29.

The girls are starting a patchwork quilt which when completed will be disposed of. The proceeds made on the quilt will be used to help pay the expenses of their annual summer camp held in June.

The boys' and girls' club started a good growth and development contest Friday evening. Everyone was weighed and measured.

LIONS INTERESTED IN PROPOSED BAY ROAD

That eternal bugaboo, School street, arose again last Tuesday evening when the Centerville Lions club gathered for their first meet in 1934.

Called School street from time immemorial, the short thoroughfare was named Allen Way last year when the Lions undertook to rename and post the Centerville streets. Residents of the street objected and it was renamed Mission View Drive. Still more objections, so it remained School street up to the present time. A committee, Dr. G. S. Holeman, Frank Madruga and Joe Jason, were appointed at the meet last week to canvass the denizens of the street and discover their preference once and for all.

Active in the construction and naming of roads last year, the Lions this time have evinced an interest in a proposed road from San Leandro to San Jose. It is said that two surveys pend, one along the bay shore west of Newark and Alvarado, and another between Centerville and Newark. The Lions discussed the value of each.

Chief Rogers Directs Painting of Fire Zones

Motorists, local and transient, will have no excuses henceforth for parking near a fireplug in Centerville. Chief Fred Rogers, assisted by John Gronley, Tuesday carefully retraced the "No parking" zones in front of the fire house and along the curb in front of Centerville fireplugs. Dazzling white rectangles show motorists the forbidden territory. The zones were last painted about a year and a half ago, Rogers said.

K.P. LODGE SEATS NEW OFFICERS AT MEET LAST WEEK

F. T. Dusterberry, Deputy Grand Chancellor, Installs.

Meeting last Thursday night in Centerville, Lodge No. 170 Knights of Pythias installed officers for the coming year. Deputy Grand Chancellor Frank T. Dusterberry was installing officer.

Officers to be seated at the meet were Alex Stinhauer, chancellor commander; Fred Rogers, vice chancellor; M. P. Mathiesen, prelate; M. D. Silva, master of work; J. D. Norris, keeper of records and seal; Walter J. Rogers, master of finance; F. T. Dusterberry, master of exchequer; E. J. DeLuce, master at arms.

Following the installation a banquet was held in honor of the new officers. Many out of town guests attended.

KNIGHT CAGERS BOW TO SAN LEANDRO Y.M.I. 32-26

"Who's afraid of the Native Son Bears?" was the refrain of the Centerville council, Knights of Columbus basketballers last night as they rode toward the Hayward lair of the former. Unmindful of the fact that the Bears had previously chewed them rather badly, the K. C. boys were undaunted.

Last Wednesday night, with Maloney, star forward, again absent, this time with a sprained ankle, the K. C. casaba slingers were jostled by the San Leandro Y. M. I. outfit by a score of 32 to 26. The game was played at the high school gymnasium at Centerville. Starters for the Knights last Wednesday evening were: Phippen and Pimentel, forwards; Brown, center; Azevedo and Duarte, guards.

K.C. CALENDAR SHOWS PLANS FOR BUSY WEEK-END

Busy times during the next few weeks are slated for the Centerville council Knights of Columbus, according to word this week from Ernest Pimentel, Grand Knight.

Tomorrow night Pimentel, accompanied by several members of the local council will attend a meet at the Oakland council to witness the official visit of Frank J. Barry, state deputy. All grand Knights from councils in the 9th district, comprising, Oakland, Megellan, Hayward and Centerville councils will be on hand for the affair.

On Sunday, at the St. Anne's church in Alvarado, the local council will receive its quarterly communion. Rev. Father Bray will officiate. The council members will take the sacrament at the 8:30 mass, after which they will breakfast at the Alvarado Hotel. John Burnett, San Jose attorney will be principal speaker at the breakfast.

Several functions are slated for February, Pimentel said. On January 27, a K. C. dinner rally will be held at Livermore for the purpose of stirring interest in membership in that city. The meet will be sponsored by the Hayward council. The meet is slated for the Croci restaurant.

One of the cultural phenomena of California in the early days of settlement was the rapid disappearance of the Indians. Although not especially maltreated, the aborigines melted away when the whites came. In 1830 there were only three thousand Indians left in this district. At the present time it would be difficult to find three full blooded ones.

CENTERVILLE P.T.A. DISCUSSES PLAY EQUIPMENT

Honoring Mrs. M. P. Mathiesen, past president, the Centerville Parent Teachers' association chapter met Tuesday afternoon at the Centerville grammar school. The program was arranged by Mrs. George Coit and consisted of two readings by Mrs. C. E. Anderson.

The business meeting preceding the program was taken up with a discussion of playground euipment. A committee was appointed to discuss school needs with the teachers and to meet with the board of trustees.

The following were appointed to the committee by Mrs. C. Wahaub, president: Mrs Paul Pitman, Mrs. C. E. Anderson, Mrs Paul Daugherty, T. Maloney, instructor, will assist the committee.

WELFARE MEMBERS HEAR REPORTS OF CHRISTMAS WORK

Fourteen members of Welfare No. 1 gathered Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Rathbone, Niles. Mrs. Harry Salz, president, presided over the meeting, during which reports on the Christmas work were given by Miss Kimmerly and Miss Beatrice Arthur.

The group was complimented on its selection of Christmas gifts for children.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday afternoon, February 19, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Coit in Centerville.

CORNHUSKER FIVES SPLIT TWO GAMES WITH FOOTHILLS

B's Continue Winning Streak; A's Drop Close Contest.

Clever floor work, but a little weak in ringing the bucket, sums up the Washington A basketballers' game Friday night with the Foothills quintet, at Berkeley. The local boys were defeated by one point, the final tally being 15-14. If all opportunities for clear shots were made, Centerville would have won nicely. At half time Foothills was leading by a one-point margain, which they held throughout the rest of the game.

The starters for Washington in the A go were: Robello and Rathbone, forwards, Yamashito, center, Mederios and Brown, guards.

True to their form, and more deadly with their shots the Washington B team preserved its record of no defeats by swamping the Foothills B's under a 24 to 8 score. Centerville led at half time, 15 to 4. Fudenna and Reina will make it tough for Centerville opponents in coming games. The B. line-up: Fudenna and Sekigahama, forwards; Witherly, center and Dusterberry and Reina, guards.

Yesterday afternoon the Centerville quintets met the San Jose High cagers at San Jose, in an off schedule, non-league game.

Tomorrow night league play will be resumed when the Livermore fives will tangle with the Cornhuskers.

PIERRE C. BANE, NATIONAL ADVERTISING MANAGER OF THE LOS ANGELES HERALD-EXPRESS, SAYS:

"During the past few years we have seen shrinkages in values of all kinds. However, it is interesting to note that Good Will has never suffered a "mark-down."

"Newspaper advertising as a builder of Good Will is without parallel. I like to compare newspaper advertising campaigns with the operations of heavy artillery units in the army. For example, when the introduction of a new product is underway, or where conditions of competition are particularly keen, a heavy bombardment of copy comparable to the action of the heaviest U. S. Army guns, the 12-inch rifles, used for heavy battery efforts, is the effective method. Where the objective is supplementary, or the sustaining of Good Will, the '155 mm. gun' type of publicity could be successfully applied. While, in the case of a follow-up campaign, or 'flash' copy, the '75 mm. gun' type of campaign is indicated, for, in this case, the resistance is nominal.

"It is likely that during these days of recovery newspaper advertising is proving effective to a greater degree than ever before. The reason lies in the fact that the flexibility of newspaper advertising permits the advertiser to meet conditions as they develop from day to day, plus the fact that the public is 'news minded' to an exceptionally high degree at the present time.

"EACH DAY, THEREFORE, THE FACT THAT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS ONE OF THE MOST VITAL FACTORS IN OUR ECONOMIC LIFE IS BECOMING MORE APPARENT."

Niles Men Quench Auto Fire At Oakland Port

Fred Amaral and George Richards, both formerly of Niles, and at present both active at the Oakland Airport, Saturday morning were instrumental in saving an automobile that had taken fire and was being consumed by flames.

Amaral, noticing the burning car across the landing field, signaled to Richards who immediately brought out the airport fire truck. The car was saved from complete destruction, but was badly damaged.

THIEVES RANSACK LIQUOR STORES SUNDAY NIGHT

Liquor store thefts, common in Oakland during the past few weeks, blossomed forth in Washington township Sunday night when two stores were entered and a quantity of the bottled stuff stolen.

Opening the door with a pass key, thirsty gurglars stole liquor valued at nearly $100 from the store run by Major Marchisio, in Centerville. A dog, left in the store, evidently as a watchman, either slept through the theft or made overtures to the burglars. He wagged his tail as the authorities investigated Monday morning. Constable Tom Silva was summoned when the theft was discovered.

Believed by police to be the same thieves that entered the Centerville store, burglars cut a padlock on the door of A. Soares' establishment in Irvington Sunday night. The second lock was opened with a pass key. Liquor worth approximately $15 was taken. Deputy sheriff Hugo Radbruch inspected the premises, and discovered several fingerprints on bottles that had been picked up by the thieves.

No vehicle of any kind was seen near either liquor store Sunday night.

It is the opinion of authorities that the burglars offer the liquor for re-sale in one of the larger bay cities.

AVERTS CRASH

Expert driving by Clarence Crane Sunday averted a crash at the subway north of Niles when an oncoming driver, confused at the approach of the fire truck swerved directly into the path of the latter. Crane veered to one side and allowed the frightened motorist to pass.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shinn, Jr., accompanied Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Wright to San Francisco Tuesday. Dr. and Mrs. Wright embarked on their trip to the West Indies.

HIGHWAY COMPLETED

The Ortega highway is now open to traffic, reports the Touring Department of the National Automobile club. All construction has been completed and road equipment removed. This highway extends from San Juan Capistrano to Lake Elsinore, affording a very scenic drive through mountainous wooded country.

Statewide branch-banking has proved..

—that it can successfully withstand severe economic tests

—that it is a strong stabilizing influence in the communities it serves, during periods of depression

—that it can quickly shift capital to sections of the state where it is most needed.

¶ Its strength and usefulness have been broadly recognized through the National Banking Act of 1933 which legalizes branch banking for national banks in all states where this system is permitted by state law. ¶ Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, former member of the British Cabinet, said recently that branch banking is largely responsible for bringing England through the depression.

CHURCHWOMEN TO SPONSOR PROGRAM AT IRVINGTON

Irvington will honor the memory of George Washington by an evening of dramatic readings and music, on the evening of February 23, according to a statement issued this week. The program for the evening is being prepared under the capable leadership of Mrs. Barton Webb, who is being assisted by the Dramatic section of the Country club and E. Belleci, leader of the high school band.

The Irvington Community church has long felt the need for a room in which to hold social activities. Lately this need has grown so acute that friends of the church have started a building fund. It is to assist in filling this fund that the Churchwomen's Association of the Irvington church have secured the assistance of Mrs. Webb and others in preparing an evening of entertainment, the central theme of which will be the Patriotism of George Washington. With such a theme and the skillful and original leadership secured, the evening gives promise of being an outstanding success.

RAMOS TEAM, LEAGUE LEADERS, BEAT NILES 5-2

Up against the league leaders for the third time, the Niles C of C's Sunday went down to a defeat after nine innings of fighting baseball with the Ramos team. The game was played at Hayward. Score was 5 to 2.

Clarence Pine, Niles catcher, led the hitters with two safe bingles in four tries. One was a two base hit. Art Mederios also garnered a double, Duarte, Niles pitcher held the Ramos outfit to 8 hits, but unluckily allowed them at the crucial moments. He walked four men and struck out six.

Wes Raso and Tony Duarte were chalked down for sacrifices. L. Pine and Jim Cull were credited with stolen bases.

The Hamilton Meats invade Niles again next Sunday. The Niles boys look for a victory.

Niles box score:

Fulton Cesari Returns From Conservation Camp

With a keen insight into the purpose and functioning of the Civilian Conservation Corps camps, Fulton Cesari is back in Niles after a stay of seven months in the camp at Castella, Shasta county. Cesari had charge of the commissary during most of his time at the camp.

Cesari states that the youths at the camp seemed glad to be occupied during the months of inactivity, but are somewhat eager at the present time to cast about for permanent employment. Cesari will be employed in Washington township. The 212 men at the particular camp at which Cesari stayed are employed building mountain roads for the most part.

Cesari stated that the military spirit seems to run high among the officers in charge of the men. He added that military training is to be added to the camp activities sometime in the near future.

The mountain highway from San Gabriel Canyon to Crystal Lake is closed, reports the Touring Department of the National Automobile club. Heavy rains have caused several slides which blocked the road.

Pleasanton Folk Attend Golden Wedding Party

More than 300 people from all sections of Alameda and Contra Costa counties gathered at the Odd Fellows' hall, Danville last Monday night to assist Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thorup, of San Ramon, celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Prominent officials of both counties, as well as dignitaries of the Danish lodges and life-long friends of the couple gathered to extend their congratulations to the couple.

Thorup came to this section 56 years ago and established a shoe shop at San Ramon. During the years he has lived there he made shoes and boots for many of the prominent families of this section. A number of Pleasanton men were his customers. Although more than 84 years of age, Thorup still is active and will occasionly make a pair of boots for an old customer.

The celebration Monday night marks the third golden wedding to be observed by members of the same family within three years. The first of the series was that of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Petersen, of Pleasanton. Mrs. Petersen is Thorup's sister. Their anniversary was the occasion of a large gathering in Livermore on March 17, 1932.

The next anniversary observed was that of Chris Thorup, brother of Mrs. Petersen, and of Peter Thorup. The celebration was held on February 24, 1932. Chris Thorup and his wife are well known in this region.

Among the brothers and sisters who attended the three golden wedding anniversaries are Mrs. Antone Petersen of Pleasanton, Mrs. Anna Alberg of Oakland, Mrs. Iver Johnson of Hayward, Mrs. L. Hansen of Livermore, Harold Thorup of Hayward, Peter Thorup and Chris Thorup.

FEDERAL LAND BANK CONTINUES TO GIVE LOANS

To expedite the moving of loans on farm property and prevent the piling up of federal Land Bank checks on closed loans pending farmers' securing a scale-down from their creditors sufficient to compose their debts completely out of Federal money received, the Berkeley Federal Land Bank today made a ruling which will affect 85 per cent of applicants for farm loans. Hereafter the bank's legal department must be assured by the farmer himself he has secured from his creditors a sufficient compromise on his debts to permit of the loan's refinancing them all before the check on an approved loan will be forwarded to the title company acting in behalf of the applicant.

Officers of the legal department explained recently that hitherto great confusion had arisen and checks held in escrow for the applicants had backed up to a sum exceeding $2,000,000 partly because of difficulties attending necessary scale-down of the recipients' debts to meet the fact of the Federal loan. Under the prior custom, when the bank's loan committee notified the applicant his loan had been passed he was required to file with the title company a schedule showing composition of all his debts within the limits of the loan. But in numberless instances the title company, upon receipt of the bank's check for its client either had no schedule to regulate payoff to creditors or discovered some of them refused to compromise their liens for a smaller sum in cash.

The new ruling affects both land bank and commissioner's loans, and joint loans of both types.

AMADOR SENIORS ARE SELECTING ANNUAL PLAY

PLEASANTON PIONEER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Living to the ripe old age of almost ninety years James Sutherland, Pleasanton's oldest resident, was called by death at his living quarters at the Rose hotel Sunday afternoon, January 7.

Mr. Sutherland, who was one of the early pioneers of this city, would have been ninety years of age had he lived until Friday.

He was held with high esteem among the racing people in the East and California and was considered one of the best colt trainers in the west. He was especially interested in harness horses such as trotters. Mr. Sutherland won many races on the Pacific coast tracks. Ill health overtook him some years ago which caused him to retire from the racing field and to live a quiet life.

Mr. Sutherland was born on the seas near the New York harbor when his folks were coming from Scotland to the United States. He spent his early boyhood in Embro, Ontario county, Canada. He came to California by way of the Panama when seventeen years of age and took up mining in the northern part of the state where he made good. He fought Indians in the lava beds under General Canby. He also drove a six horse stage in Idaho during the time the Indian trouble arose.

Shortly after he drove stage he located in Etna Mills, Siskiyou county, California, where he owned and operated a butcher shop and livery stable.

He came to Pleasanton about forty years ago, bought land and started a stock farm adjoining the late Count Valensin place, known now as the Meadowbrook Farm operated by Major Christianson for race horse breeding. Later he sold the property to the Alameda Sugar Corporation and purchased the Rose hotel, which he operated until his death. He served for a number of years as trustee for the town of Pleasanton.

When he came to Pleasanton forty years ago he helped the city to gain its racing and horsebreeding reputation. He was manager of the Pleasanton race track for a number of years. He also brought into this city a great number of race horses.

He was a man who never used any tobacco and never took a drink during his long and interesting life. He was taken ill last February but was able to be around. He wass confined to his bed but fourteen days prior to his death. He was married for sixty-two years.

Funeral services were held from the Alameda Chapel at San Jose Tuesday afternoon with cremation following. The ashes of the body were shipped to Embro, Canada where they will be buried near his father and mother.

He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, Nettie Sutherland, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred Chadbourne, of Pleasanton, and Mrs. Effie Thomas, of Oakland.

Pleasanton Child Is Given Party on 8th Birthday

Little Zeda Mae Rabello, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Rabello, was honored at a birthday party given at the home of her parents near Pleasanton recently.

The affair was honoring her eighth birthday. She was the recipient of many lovely gifts from her little friends. The youngsters enjoyed playing games after which refreshments were served. Table decorations were carried out in pale-green and pink.

The young guests present were the Misses Katherine, Raymond and Theressa Reimers, of Dublin, Arthur Vierra, Alice and Dorothy Taylor, Margaret Rabello and the honored guest of Pleasanton.

A coffee party was enjoyed by the grown-ups who were present The table decorations were in pink and white. Those present were the Mrs. Ellen Reimers and Miss Kate Tehan, of Dublin, Mrs. Mildred Taylor, Mrs. Mary E. Nerton and daughter, Thelma and the host and hostess, of Pleasanton.

Pleasanton Man Dies Sunday at Hospital

After having been confined to the French hospital at San Francisco, for the past month, Antonio Bon, of Pleasanton, failed to rally and passed away Sunday morning, January 7.

Bon was a native of Spain and was fifty-seven years of age at the time of his passing. He came to California twenty-six years ago and lived in Pleasanton for twenty-five years. He operated the Pleasanton Steam Laundry for a number of years, selling the business about twelve years ago. He was retired for the last three years.

His health had been failing for the past six months but was not confined to his bed until the past four weeks. He was well known here and leaves a wide circle of friends.

He leaves to mourn him his widow, Amie Bon; and two sons, Antone, of San Rafael, and Louis, of Los Banos. He leaves a brother, Angelo, of Willits, and a sister, Mrs. Trinadad Perez, of Monterey, and a niece, Trinadad Gaston, of Los Banos.

Funeral services were conducted last Wednesday morning from the Graham mortuary. Interment followed at the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

First National Bank Directors Are Elected

The annual meeting of stockholders of The First National Bank of Pleasanton, was of a routine nature, resulting in the election of the present directors with the addition of Harry J. Harding, to fill the existing vacancy. Those now constituting the board of directors are as follows: Randolph Apperson, A. Banke, Harry J. Harding, Marshall Nuchols, A. B. Pickard, Henry P. Reimers, and Claude Smallwood.

The annual meeting afforded stockholders an opportunity to view the additional office quarters recently completed, providing adequate space to take care of the enlarged business expected following the take-over of the Amador Valley Savings Bank.

In the report covering the bank's activities for the last half of 1933, it was brought out that the Pleasanton area, like all agricultural sections, had shared in the distress of recent years, but that the brighter outlook for agriculture generally due to the government's efforts to raise commodity prices justified a hopeful view as to the future of this area.

It was announced that bank deposits were insured under the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, which recently went into effect. "This fact, together with the fact that the government is to be a partner through stock ownership," the report continues, "is a compliment as to our strength and soundness of which we are justly proud."

AMADOR DONS ARE WEIGHED AND MEASURED TUESDAY

Members of the Amador Valley high school varsity and B basketball teams were weighed and measured by Vernon Goold of Centerville, Tuesday.

Abrose Regalia was the only member of the B team who did not pass the classification. Although Regalia has the ability to play, he is too light and young to pass the requirements of the division.

League play in basketball for the Dons will start tomorrow night at the California School for the Deaf and Dumb.

Friday the Dons motored to Danville where the varsity and B team contests will be held.

Coach Patterson is still short of players, which is the main handicap of the Dons this year.

Science says Today use a LIQUID Laxative

If you want to GET RID of Constipation worries—

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

A doctor will tell you that the unwise choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to the use of laxatives in liquid form.

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

In buying any laxative, always read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional preparation in which there are no mineral drugs. Its ingredients are on the label. By using it, you avoid danger of bowel strain. You can keep the bowels regular, and comfortable; you can make constipated spells as rare as colds.

The liquid test:

This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics:

First. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose you find is suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without any need of stimulation.

Syrup pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used. It contains senna, a natural laxative which is perfectly safe for the youngest child. Your druggist has Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Dixie Succotash Pudding: Add one slightly-beaten egg to the contents of an 8-ounce can of succotash; add one-half cup milk, and season with salt and pepper. Pour into buttered baking dish and cover with one-third cup buttered crumbs. Bake until firm, about twenty-five to thirty minutes, in a slow oven—350 degrees.

Hot Pear Shortcake with Chocolate Sauce: Drain the contents of one eight-ounce can of pears, and sauté in one tablespoon butter until golden brown on both sides. Melt one square of chocolate and one tablespoon butter; add one-fourth cup water slowly, stirring until smooth. Add one-half cup sugar and cook a few minutes. Then add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Place hot pears on small squares of sponge cake, plain or toasted, and pour over the hot chocolate sauce.*

AMADOR ALUMNI TO MEET TWO TIMES A WEEK

Wednesday and Thursday were the evenings set for the rehearsals of the "Mikado" an opera to be presented by the Amador Operatic club in the spring, according to word received this week from Professor Harry Tripp.

The club was organized primarily for the benefit of the Alumni of the Amador high school, who desire to continue their activities in music. Rehearsals started last Thursday evening and will be held every week throughout the school session. Every second Wednesday of the month the rehearsal will be followed by a social gathering and a business meeting.

The music of the opera is under the direction of Harry Tripp, who states that principal parts may be applied for and will be chosen during the coming week. Those desirous of taking leading roles are asked to get in touch with any one of the officers of the club who will be able to give all information respecting the meetings.

Members of the evening choral class are cordially invited to attend the rehearsals on either evening. Rehearsals are held at the Amador high school gym and start at 7:45.

Other honors went to Mrs. H. E. Dickensen, Mrs. J. Jasper, G. McCart, W. F. Sylvia, Mrs. A. Walker, Mrs. A. Riemers, Mrs. John Dutra, Mrs. N. R. Harris, Mrs. Al Bonne, Miss E. Flannagan, J. E. Bairos and Mrs. M. Andrade.

In 1841 the Mission San Jose rated as one of the leading sources of supply for hides and tallow to the Russians from Fort Ross. The padres transported the hides from the Mission to San Francisco by barge, where the Russians picked them up. Trade was made difficult by the jealousy of the Spanish over their vulnerable lands. Contrary to their fears, the Russians made no conquests in the San Francisco bay region.

AXMEN CUT DOWN HISTORIC PINE FRIDAY

The second historic tree in Washington township to fall before the axe within the last two weeks was felled Friday afternoon at the corner of Walnut Way and the Mission highway by the Telephone company line crew.

A gnarled and wind-beaten pine, the tree had stood for almost a century. It was at one time the favorite "climbing tree" for urchins on their way home from the "Ward school", which once flourished on Walnut Way.

It is said that the ancient tree interferred with the telephone wires.

Two weeks ago an historic poplar in Centerville was chopped down, its winter shade said to have been too "clammy", and its falling leaves a muss to clean up.

SONS OF VETERANS TO HEAR GREENWALD TOMORROW

Sons of the Legionnaires of the Washington township post 195, will receive their first instruction in Legion tradition tomorrow night when they meet with their veteran dads at a father-son, get-together at the Veterans' Memorial building in Niles.

The meet is slated as a part of the national effort of the Legionnaires to bring the value of the Legion home to the American youth.

An outline of future activities for the boys will be worked out with the assistance of Comrade Greenwald of the Oakland post, state chairman of the new movement. He will be the principal speaker.

Refreshments will be served later in the evening, according to Legion Post members here.

A brief, intense scrutiny of Mission Peak, with the eye tuned to a stranger's viewpoint, will give residents of the local region a new sensation of beauty. Visiting artists have commented on the symmetry and character of the mountain.

SIXTEENTH DISTRICT SLATES OAKLAND "THRIFT TALKS"
